Sex Business

Cherokee doesn't mess around when it comes to sex. She's going to take that big cock and suck it dry. But not before getting a good fuck out of it, bending over to take it from behind and riding it hard like a cowgirl to maximize the cum velocity that her pussy contractions help crank out.

Catherine Bell

Catherine Bell was born August 14, 1968, in London, England. Of British and Iranian descent (Catherine speaks fluent Farsi), a 3-year-old Catherine relocated to Los Angeles with her family. Although she had appeared in some television commercials as a child, Catherine originally wanted to be an artist. She ended up going to UCLA to study medicine, with the intention of becoming a surgeon or a biomedical engineer, but she had a slight change of plans. Catherine Bell began modeling part-time while in college. She put her studies on hold when she headed to Japan to model for several months, but even though she was modeling, Catherine still felt that her shyness was holding her back. That's where acting came in. Catherine hired an acting coach to help her get over her shyness. She was on the road to becoming a successful model, but fell in love with acting instead. Catherine Bell parents supported her decision to pursue acting (rather than the more secure medical field), but it took years of auditions to finally get the break she needed. Catherine started out with guest appearances on television shows like Dream On in 1994, Friends in 1995 ("The One with the Baby on the Bus"), Hotline in 1996, Hercules: The Legendary Journeys in 1997, and a recurring role in Sin City Spectacular in 1998. Before landing her breakthrough role of Lt. Col. Sarah "Mac" MacKenzie on JAG, she was cast in the recurring role of Lt.

Adam Glasser

Adam Glasser, better known as Seymore Butts, held a one-hour seminar this afternoon in which he detailed his thoughts on building the ideal retail store. Titled "A Studio's Views on Adult Retailing A Conversation with Adam Glasser," the seminar was held from 1 PM, and touched on everything from the general appearance of a store to methods of standing out in a sea of competitors. The first and most crucial point Glasser made was that retailers should aim to create an inviting atmosphere: It should be bright, open and non-intimidating, he said. "I think the days of those dark back rooms are over," Glasser opined, adding that having good music playing could help raise the comfort level. Further raising the comfort level, however, comes from having a knowledgeable staff, something Glasser stressed emphatically. "They should know the most popular directors in each genre," he recommended. "They should know the major AVN Award winners." It helps also, he said, for staff members to be aware of porn's mainstream side, because it can help ease customers into asking for product they might otherwise not be comfortable asking about. For example, he said, "They should know that I have a TV show. They should know that Jenna Jameson has a book called How to Make Love Like a Porn Star on the New York Times bestseller list. It's not easy for people to ask certain questions, even today, and if your staff creates a bond with them, it creates trust." Glasser quoted Hustler chain of retail stores as a premiere example of how to design a brick-and-mortar adult business. "If anybody that has a brick-and-mortar store has not visited a Hustler store yet, that would be a good thing to do, because I think they have done it right,” he said, quoting those stores’ coffee bars, merchandising items and tasteful storefront displays as examples of what makes them inviting and successful. As far as what to carry, Adam Glasser noted that gonzo is reportedly the most profitable genre for retailers, “So I’d make sure you have the best fucking gonzo there is in your store, and go from there,” he summarized.

Sophie Evans

Hungary's Sophie Evans absolutely loves her job as a porn star - and we can tell! Sophie Evans is a stunner with green eyes, red hair and lips that would best be described as succulent. Now living in Spain, Sophie regularly travels to different locales to shoot porn and model for Europe's top men's magazines. We've been lucky enough to get her into Danni Studios where she's made electric appearances in our E-Zine CyberBeauties . Sophie's hobbies include reading, going to movies and the gym. While Sophie says she loves shy guys, she certainly isn't shy herself. Sophie enjoys doing "porno shows" where she has sex in front of people...

Sasha Grey

Few starlets in recent years have soared to the top of the porn charts as fast as Sasha Grey. Her tight body, perfect ass and long brunette hair are striking from the moment you first lay eyes on her and in this sexy clip we allowed her to explore her dominant side for a change! There's something so fucking hot about a gorgeous leggy pornstar nuzzling her shoe between your crotch before demanding that you stand up and shove your cock in her mouth! She gags deep and her eyes roll back in her head like a shark as she grabs hold of your hands and pulls her head down all the way against you. Her upper lip pressed against your belly and her lower lip bumping against your ball-sack. This is how Sasha wants you to remember her... choking on your cock and drooling all over herself! 1000 Facials is usually focused on oral sex for obvious reasons but a gal like Sasha Grey needs to have her asshole fucked for any scene to be a success. Listen to her demanding that you tease her asshole but shoving it in and pulling it all the way out. If you turn off your monitor and turn up your sound her voice is enough to make you cum all by itself. When Sasha talks dirty... everyone cums!

Laura Angel

Laura Angel burst onto the hardcore porno scene in 1998 with a turn in Euro Angels 12, and has since made quite the wonderful career out of appearing in such nasty fare as Fucking in Europe, Rocco's True Anal Stories 5 (We heard the first four were pretty good...) and Rocco's Best Butt Fucks

A picture says more than thousand words, but it can also be very misleading at times. For example Laura Angel's she-devil picture. In it, the hot-blooded Czech Beauty looks as if she was the patron saint of the fetish-scene. Which is not quite true. Laura Angel does not mind shooting the odd fetish-movie, but only if the producers put great emphasis on aesthetics and a classy cast. Privately fetish-gear is hardly Laura's cup of tea. Laura's private life and her job have many points in common. Because other than many of her work-colleagues she didn't wash up in the porn-biz in her youth, but jumped in from an inner urge. When Laura Angel is in a movie, she really wants to be there - and therefore reliably delivers great and hefty 'works'. Already a married mother, Laura Angel entered the business at the end of the 90's after her divorce, when she got into contact with porn via a new, experiments-loving lover. And she was as big a hit as an ass-dive at the swimming-baths. Especially for anal-filmers such as Christoph Clark she must have seemed a gift from heaven, as her name suggests. Meanwhile Miss Angel has remarried and lives in France, while her closest relatives in the Czech Republic. As suddenly as Laura Angel got into the Xbiz, as suddenly will she likely dissapear again, once she's had enough of fucking on-camera. To continue her career as director is not what she wants, because she wouldn't want to have to deal with the cast all the time. This could be a hint towards the fact that Miss Angel doesn't consider herself easy to deal with. Working with Antonio Adamo seems not to have been a piece of cake, seen as the CLEOPATRA-director isn't renowned to be a very emphatic character, nor a particularly speedy shooter. The 'most famous eye-brows' in the Xbiz' wishes for the future are humble: Health and happiness for her loved ones and herself. We wish her the same from the bottom of our hearts.
